Hear it from those who live,
work and learn here ...

Public education at its best requires hard work and excellence from its students ... and the students love it anyway. That's what my children receive in Enid Public Schools.

– Susan Shewey, Teacher, PTA Member & Mother

The children of today will be the leaders and workforce of tomorrow. In order to meet the challenges of the future, we must continue our commitment to have a strong public education system that includes rigorous academic standards and has a high regard for development and retention of quality educators.

– Brian Hayden, HR Professional & Business Leader

The close working relationship between the staff and the administration allows us to provide the most productive educational environment for our students. In Enid, the best teachers have the opportunity to serve the greatest community.

– Sherri Hendrie, Teacher & EEA President

EPS prepared me for college more than I could have imagined. My teachers helped me develop research and study skills that most of my peers in college do not have. I believe that EPS offers the most well-rounded schools in Oklahoma.

– Jamie Hughes, EHS Graduate & OU Student

Our District

Enid Public Schools is a student-centered district that consists of one high school, three middle schools and ten elementary schools, which are commonly referred to as "neighborhood" schools. The district also has an alternative school, as well as an adult education center.

EPS offers students a rigorous, college-bound curriculum with personalized instruction designed to meet the needs of all students. The district provides enrichment/gifted education opportunities at all levels, including 16 AP classes and concurrent enrollment options at EHS. EPS also provides a comprehensive special education program with a staff that includes two national award winners. For its youngest students, EPS offers developmentally appropriate pre-kindergarten to second-grade classes, with a full-time early childhood consultant on staff.

The heart of the district is its highly qualified teaching staff. The district's personnel department follows a strategic, research-based process to find the most valuable candidate for each available position. The backbone of the district is its support staff, whose members are essential to the daily mission of the system.

Our Community

Located in the heart of Northwest Oklahoma, Enid is home to more than 47,000 people, as well as Vance Air Force Base. In 2006, Good Morning America recognized Enid as one of the five "Up and Coming" areas of the country.

Enid offers its residents a wealth of opportunities for recreation and adventure. Arts enthusiasts can enjoy performances by the Enid Symphony Orchestra and Gaslight Theatre, while sports lovers will want to catch a baseball game at the national-caliber David Allen Memorial Ballpark in historic downtown. Enid is also home to five museums, including a noted children's facility.

Enid's business community also continues to grow, and Expansion Management Magazine recently

EPS believes in educating the whole child. The health services staff includes two Nationally Board Certified school nurses. The district also works collaboratively with local social service agencies to provide students and their families with any assistance they may need.

EPS offers a plethora of opportunities for students to showcase and grow their talents in all arenas – academics, athletics, music, community involvement, leadership and more.

The district is in the process of a three-year facility improvement plan, which was developed by parents, community members and teachers. In 2010, voters approved more than $99 million for facility, technology and bus improvements, including two new elementary schools to accommodate enrollment growth.

EPS students benefit from tremendous community support. Residents contribute more than 20,000 volunteer hours annually, and the EPS Foundation donates $30,000 to classrooms each year.
